

LIVING WATERS DARNALL – DATA PRIVACY NOTICE

Introduction

At Living Waters, Darnall, we take your privacy very seriously and are committed to ensuring that personal data is protected in accordance with data protection laws and in line with your expectations.

In May 2018 new legislation called the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) came into force. The trustees of Living Waters are committed to ensure that personal data is and continues to be handled securely and in accordance with this legislation. This privacy notice explains what personal data we hold, why we hold it, how we use it, the control you have over your personal data and the procedures we have in place to protect it.

What personal data we hold

As a member of the church we will usually hold personal details about you including your name, address, telephone and email details. We will ask you for these details, and for your consent for us to hold and use this data in line with the described uses below.

In addition, if you have opted to give to the church through the banking system, we may hold your bank details and details of your regular giving. If you have signed a Gift Aid declaration, we will hold the details provided in order to make claims for Gift Aid refunds from HMRC.

If you are involved in working with children or vulnerable adults as part of your service in the church, we will also hold DBS (disclosure and barring service) records about you.

Why we hold your data

We hold your data in order to

- Provide you with news and information about events and activities at the church
- Provide appropriate pastoral care
- Maintain communication between individuals and departments of the church
- Administer membership records
- Maintain financial accounts and records
- Fundraise and promote the interests of the church
- Manage our volunteer workforce
- Keep children and vulnerable adults safe

Who we share personal data with

Your personal data will be treated as private and will only be used or shared within the specified criteria given. We will only share your data with third parties outside of the church with your explicit consent, unless we are legally required to do so, for example, by a law enforcement agency or court.

How we protect your data

We take the security of your data very seriously. We operate robust internal procedures that will ensure your data is not lost, accidentally destroyed, misused or disclosed and that it will not be accessed by any unauthorised party.

Storing your data

We will keep your data in a secure electronic storage.

How long we retain data

Routinely we will only keep your personal data while you are actively involved in the church and its activities, although some data may need to be retained for longer for legal reasons. The database will be regularly reviewed.

Your rights with respect to your data

You can request that we amend or delete any personal data we hold about you at any time. You can also request to see what personal information we hold about you and this will be provided within one month of the date of request.

Questions about this privacy notice

If you have any questions about this notice, please raise them with one of the church trustees who are responsible for data privacy.

Further concerns

If you are dissatisfied with the way your personal data is handled and you remain dissatisfied once you have raised the issue with a church trustee, you have the right to complain to the Information Commissioners Office (ICO). The ICO can be contacted at;
